2014 Rosé

600 cases produced • 13.4% Alc. By Vol.

Tasting Notes

Our creation of this wine is in direct response to our love of crisp, dry Rosé. The color is a striking pale salmon pink with aromas and flavors of tart strawberries and melon skin. Finishing completely dry, this is as serious as Rosé gets.

Harvest Notes

- Vineyards: McKinley Springs, Coyote Canyon
- Appellation: Columbia Valley (Horse Heaven Hills)
- Varietals: 38% Mourvedre / 32% Cinsault / 30% Grenache

Vineyards

This wine is more an exploration of the Columbia Valley than a representation of any one variety or vineyard. What is important for us lies in what each site contributes to the overall blend. Grenache and Cinsault are sourced from McKinley Springs and contribute freshness and light red fruits. Mourvedre brings structure and complexity and is sourced from Coyote Canyon vineyard.

Vinification

The fruit was hand harvested and transported to the winery in the early morning. The grapes were harvested specifically for rose production and were picked at lower brix. They were whole cluster pressed. No malolactic fermentation or lees contact occurs. Sterile bottled in February.
